Artesania Latina Bounty's Jolly Boat Description

The Artesania Latina Bounty's Jolly Boat wooden ship model is an accurate reproduction of the real life ship. In April of 1789 the Bounty left Tahiti and while it crossed the Endeavour Straits, the crew rebelled. The Captain and his eighteen loyal followers embarked in one of the three auxiliary boats. This one small ship had to travel 3.600 miles until it reached Timor, with only four rowers.

This model kit is a great introduction to model boat building, and is recommended for the starter, plus it is highly detailed with many fine points. When complete this wooden boat kit measures length measures 745mm.
